Subject: Some Convoy Updates

Hi Kim,

As discussed, the EOC will be moving to Enhanced Operations as of tomorrow morning, in support of the Truck Demonstration. We'll be hosting a second Duty Officer call at 13:00 tomorrow.

Some random updates:

- A portion of the convoy may arrive at 12/noon Friday. OPS is monitoring closely. They will get the heads up from other police jurisdictions as the vehicles pass through their areas.
- Looks like a rally is still planned on the Hill for Saturday in the early afternoon and likely more speeches etc. Sunday at 11:00 am or noon.
- No permits have been approved for anything.
- Traffic Management should have a map ready very soon to disseminate to service areas re road closures and impacts.
- No LRT impacts anticipated and OC Transpo detours have been coordinated. As you know, Fire, Bylaw, and Paramedics have been doing some prep-work and are engaged in different ways.
- We have a list of anticipated road closures etc. but the EOC is waiting for the Map from Traffic Management and will use that as the official list since the situation is so fluid.
- OPS have made arrangements to deliver food to Bruyere hospital as they may have traffic flow issues due to their location.

- Of concern, the “Hospital Emergency Preparedness Committee of Ottawa” reported today that hospitals, vaccine clinics and assessment centres may be targeted. As soon as we saw that, we talked to Police, who confirmed that they have no intelligence to support that statement. We are liaising with Police on this issue though, as it would change our security posture at those places, if valid.
- Police will use Jean Pigott at City Hall as a relief area this weekend (warm up; eat lunch etc.).
- A bunch of City reps have been confirmed to join the NCRCC this Friday, starting at 13:00. Current plan is for reps to be there Fri-Sat-Sun but that posture will re-assessed this weekend. EOC will be there!
- The EOC got lots of outreach today from external partners such as Enbridge and Hydro Ottawa. We confirmed with OPS that they wanted to handle that liaison. As per the INTERSECT email, we are directing that kind of outreach to PLT@ottawapolice.ca.
- The EOC also got a ton of outreach from concerned City staff. We are strongly encouraging internal comms to be released to staff, to provide them with confidence and assurances (and the Map of road closures, once ready). Our understanding is that PIMR is liaising with CMO on this front. It may also be prudent to warn people that the duration of this event is not known.
- OC Transpo has confirmed that their tow trucks are not available to support the Convoy this weekend. They are suggesting that OPS use Gervais Towing as Transit Services has a standing offer with that entity.
